

GLOBAL RESILIENCE AND THE ROLE OF INSURANCE

The insurance industry plays a key role in building global risk resiliency. Innovative risk management tools serve to build resilient platforms, mitigating the impact of a wide range of threats surrounding longevity and pensions, healthcare, climate and extreme events, and cyber and technology risks. By offering solutions which address the ever changing global risk landscape, the insurance industry is poised to enhance its economic relevance and social impact by closing the widening protection gap, delivering meaningful change towards sustainable growth.
